ASKS RELEASE OF AMERICAN GAMBLERS

Acting Consul in Juarez Takes a Hand in Cases of Americans Jailed.

NEW MAYOR IN JUAREZ OFFICE

American vice consul William Zoeller, of Ciudad Juarez, is working in behalf of the American gamblers now held in jail in Juarez, trying to gain their release. He has not yet succeeded. He telegraphed to the state department in Washington Saturday morning complaining of the holding of the Americans by the Mexican authorities, as all of the men had permits from the mayor to run their gambling. The confiscating of their money he holds to have been illegal on this account. Consul Edwards is away on vacation. The prisoners are being given hearings before Judge Gonzalez. The period of 72 hours in which they will be held, expires at noon Sunday. If the men are not confronted with charges of a specific character by this time, the Mexican law requires that they be released. However, charges were formally made Thursday noon.

New Mayor. Guillermo Alvarez is now the mayor of Ciudad Juarez. He returned from Chihuahua Friday night with his commission from the governor of the state and took office Saturday morning.

Mayor Alvarez will act as jefe politico of the district of Bravo until the municipal election, which will be held in Ciudad Juarez next November.

New Police Chief, Too. It is expected that Capt. Rafael Campo will take office as chief of police next Monday, or some time early in the week, to succeed Jose Martinez, the present chief. He is awaiting his commission from Gov. Abram Gonzalez.

Medina Still in Jail. Juan N. Medina, former mayor, is still held a prisoner in the Juarez jail and, although it was said that he would be allowed to furnish bond and gain his liberty on Saturday, efforts to make the bond by friends have not been accepted by the authorities.

The gamblers, with the exception of Jacob Touche and Francisco Palomar, proprietors of gambling houses, are still in custody. Touche and Palomar were released by the officials Friday night, having furnished bond to the sum of 500 pesos. The other men will be released, according to Judge Gonzalez, if they can give bond.

May Bring Blanco Back. Gen. Blanco may be brought back from Casas Grandes for allowing gambling to run in the old town while he was in military command of the city. Blanco is now near Casas Grandes, where his insurrecto soldiers are encamped. It is understood that the movement to have Blanco involved in the gambling riddle has been started by friends of Medina.

Baking Powder Man Is In. Chief of detectives J. C. Stansel has been asked by a powder company to investigate the case of one of its representatives, arrested in Juarez two days ago and still in the Juarez jail. The man, Edward A. Gohlentz, was arrested, it is stated by Gen. Orozco, in a gambling hall, but Gohlentz claims that he is being held because he is mistaken by the Mexican authorities for a politician in the City of Mexico, who has been causing them considerable trouble.

Warrant Confiscated. A warrant ordering the arrest of Gen. Pasqual Orozco was confiscated Friday by the guards at the jail as an effort was being made to take it to mayor Medina in the city jail to have it signed. The order was based on the jefe politico of the city being the chief power and that he had been illegally placed under arrest. The warrant had been drawn up by friends of mayor Medina, but it was necessary to have his signature before it could be served. It was while trying to smuggle the warrant in to the mayor that it was taken by the guards.

Man Thrown From Horse. Adolpho Castro, an insurrecto soldier, received a painful cut in his scalp by being thrown from his horse in Ciudad Juarez Saturday morning, while passing the jail.

PAY CAR IN JUAREZ. The Mexican National pay car arrived in Ciudad Juarez Friday night and the railroad employees are being paid off. A guard of insurrecto soldiers is stationed around the car.

MONEY SEIZED IN RAID WAS $12,799

The money which was taken by Gen. Orozco and the other officers in Ciudad Juarez from the different gambling houses in the city during the raid Wednesday night has been counted in the court of letters and amounts to $12,799.77 American money. Of this sum, $8,725.50 was taken from Jacob Touche, known in the gambling world as "The Turk." The money has been turned over to state tax collector S. Vazquez Jr. in Ciudad Juarez, but the courts will decide later where it will be sent.

TURK LOSES MONEY AND IS LEFT STRANDED IN JUAREZ

Bal Singh, a Turk, arrived in Ciudad Juarez the other day from the interior of Mexico. His intention was to enter the United States and go to Los Angeles, where he had relatives, but while taking a nap in the border city before emigrating someone relieved him of his roll, amounting to over $100 and he is left stranded in Juarez.

Alpine, Texas, Aug. 19.—Considerable interest is aroused here over an apparently well authenticated report that rich gold bearing ore has been discovered on the line of Brewster and Jeff Davis counties, 12 miles from Alpine. SMALLPOX CASE ON STREET CAR

A case of smallpox was discovered on a Mexico street car Friday by immigration inspector Lawler and the child with the disease was deported immediately, the car fumigated and the people on the car vaccinated.

While going through the car inspector Lawler discovered a Mexican woman who held what seemed to be a bundle under her shawl. He made her remove the shawl and found a young child whose face was broken out with smallpox. The woman and the child were ordered from the car and the Mexican immigration authorities were notified and the woman and child turned over to them.

The American authorities were then notified and the state health officer, T. J. McCamant had all of the people on the car vaccinated and the car sent to the barn for fumigation.
